INTRODUCTION

This guide to the United States and Canadian holdings at the British Library Newspaper Library is one of a series published by the Eccles Centre for American Studies to promote awareness of the British Library's North American collections. One of the main aims of the guide is to provide direct access to the holdings pertinent to individual states and provinces as the Newspaper Library's catalogue arrangement is by title and town only. Readers will quickly realise that the holdings are not restricted to newspapers alone, although these do comprise the majority of the records. In addition there are included publications of trade unions, churches, ethnic and political societies and associations, as well as magazines covering fashion and the arts. However, two types of material are omitted: the large number of single issue American newspapers and the journals of particular trades.

The material is arranged into separate sections for the United States and Canada, and each of these sections is followed by an index covering state/province and town. The main entries provide the town and state/province of publication, detailed information on the holdings and, at the end of each record, the shelf-mark. For these items that had not been catalogued at the time of going to press the holdings information is limited to years rather than specific dates. In a separate section the guide also includes the few American newspapers held in the main collection of the Department of Humanities and Social Sciences. Three abbreviations have been used extensively throughout: MIC – microfilm, IMP – imperfect, MUT – mutilated.

The Eccles Centre hopes that this guide will be of use to all those wishing to further their understanding of the United States and Canada and believes that it is through mutual understanding and appreciation that the close relationship between the United Kingdom and these two nations will be maintained.
